The future has arrived!

Graduation - a time for reflection. The freshman year, full of new experiences and faces, was confusing, upsetting, exciting. As sophomores, the '79ers settled down to the business of filling the class treasury. Parties, dances, and the ever present money making activities occupied the juniors. More and more the class reflected a wide and interesting variety of nationalities and races.

Suddenly '79 arrived. SAT tests, job applications, announcements, the Prom, signing yearbooks for the last time - all these were reminders that graduation was close.

Feelings of nostalgia and the almost frightening prospect of going out on one's own were mixed with an eagerness to be on the way. High school is an important phase of life, but it is only one. The future awaits!

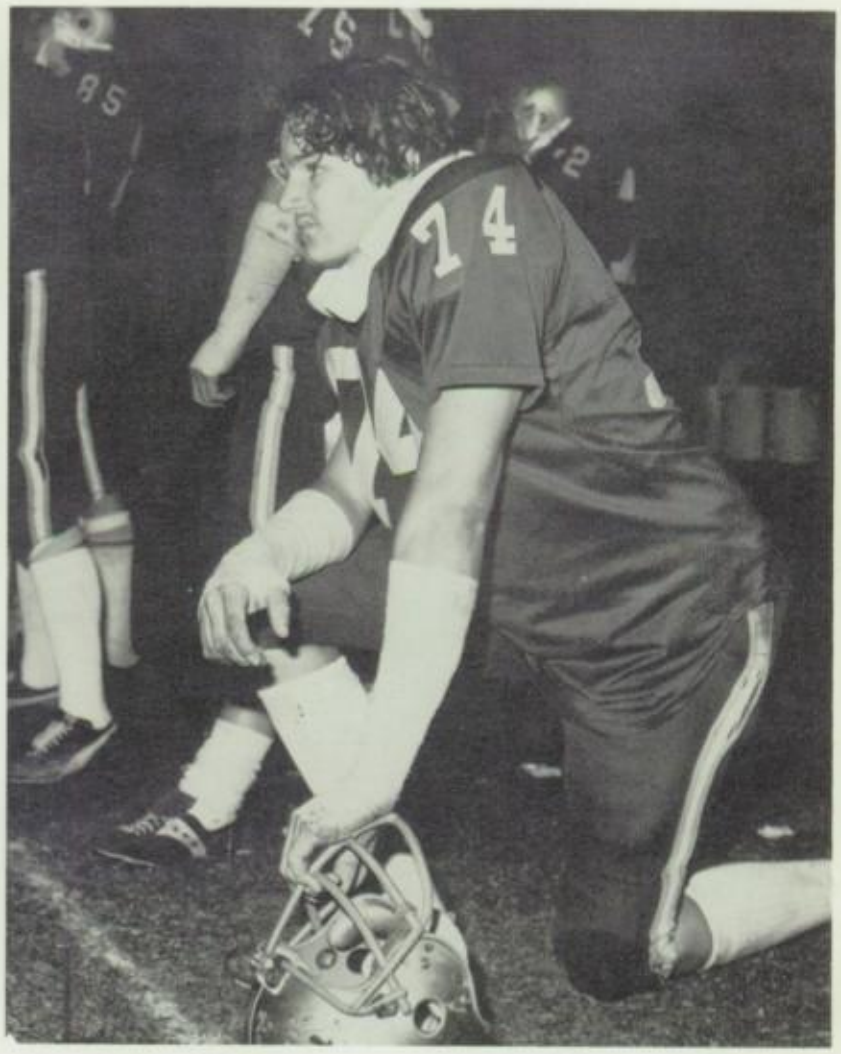
A time for reflections and memories

The Seniors bid goodbye to that unique world called Lennox



Class of '79 moves out

September 1975 . . . four hundred and fifteen assorted Freshmen made their debut at Lennox High. At that time, they were so busy finding their niche in the new surroundings that little or no thought was given to such items as graduation. Suddenly it is June 1979, and high school will soon be memories for a life time of reflection.

Involved Seniors plunged into money making activities such as the valentine candy sale and Turkey Hop. Selecting the historic Queen Mary as the Prom site, the cabinet chose the theme "Come Sail Away" and booked the Long John Silver band. Senior domination in class competition was finally broken. Amidst murmurs of "senioritis" and apathy, the hardy ones carried on.

Competent Robin Shelton was first semester president. Assisting her were Jenny McFall, vice president; and Laura Simonek, secretary. During the second term, Connie Fontenot took over as president, with Robin as vice president, and Shirley Ohnstad acting as secretary.

Looking back on her association with the Class of '79, advisor Mrs. Fran Rinks reflected: "I would like to express my deepest appreciation to the small but dedicated group of seniors who have been involved in the planning and activities of the class for the past four years . . . You know who you are if you've attended cabinet meetings!"

Varsity downs Cardinals to nab coveted "Trophy"

The 1978 varsity football team began the year with eight returning lettermen and hopes of upsetting the pre-season prediction that the Lancers would finish in last place. Their hopes were soon dashed, and the locals closed with a 1-8 record.

Highlight of the year was the homecoming game against undefeated Lawndale. Smarting from league losses to Leuzinger and Aviation, a fired-up Lancer team took the field determined to recapture the coveted "Trophy." A key interception by Jimenez, TD's by Mitchell and Soria, and a 43-yard field goal by Jose Garcia shut out the Cardinals 17-0.

Top honors went to Andre Brooks and Bret Gutman who were named to the All-League team. Defensive standout Jose Garcia led the team in tackles, and consistently strong performances by the defense kept the Lancers in many games.

Coach Mark Jacobs, who was aided by Don Bohannon and Howard Williams, had this comment on the season: "Our fellows fought hard and never gave up. Wait until next year when 8 out of 11 starters return. Lennox will be back in '79."

Under the coaching of Jim Quesenberry and Pete Publico, the Frosh-Soph gridders fought hard through a long season, but they were never able to get it together to post a winning record.

While compiling their 1-8 season, the young Lancers suffered resounding losses to major rivals Leuzinger and Lawndale. They came back to play an exciting game against the El Segundo Eagles, when Kevin Rachall returned a fourth quarter kick off 85 yards for a touchdown, the longest TD score by a sophomore in the last three years.

The only win for the Frosh-Soph eleven came against Harvard. Led by freshman quarterback Delzie Lanham, the Lancers took command of the game from beginning to end to defeat their opponents 19-0.

JV's score high

The JV volleyball team got off to a rousing start by winning their first 3 matches. A loss in self-confidence cost them the next 3 games, but the junior spikers got it all together again for a strong finish. Their 6-4 record earned them second place in the Pioneer League.

Trophy winners named by Coach Jan Wieberg were: Jackie Shaw, most outstanding player; Patty Moreno, most consistent performer; and Sonia Amel, most improved member of the squad.

Varsity spikers set 7-3 record

Under the guidance of first year coach Beth Hayden, the varsity volleyball team opened the season's competition by taking 2 games straight from rival Leuzinger High. In a season marked by strong competition from CIF bound Inglewood and Culver City, the locals compiled a 7-3 record to place third in the league.

Honors went to Elana Weathersby as most valuable player. Esperanza Tascon was chosen most improved, with Lorena Abdo as most inspirational. Weathersby was named to the All-League first team, while Tascon and Abdo gained places on the second team.

Action is their game

The world of the Pep Squad member is filled with limitless hours of practice and performance. While others are at the beach, they are going to camp or practicing routines. Most students leave campus at 2:30; pepsters remain to make posters, plan assembly appearances and devise new routines. They do this because to them spirit building is important. It is their contribution to Lennox High.

Netters do well

Coach Marian Kovinick's varsity netters early displayed the potential to be a strong contender in Pioneer League play. Overall well-balanced team effort highlighted victories against Centennial, Lawndale and Leuzinger.

A particularly satisfying win came in the second round match against Lawndale. Having lost the first round by tying in sets and losing in games, the team made a strong comeback to defeat the Cardinals 12-6. Final tally showed a 4-6 record for a season marked by companionship and strong team play.

Runners show winning ways

"He can really run!" and "How far did you say they ran - three miles?" These were comments constantly heard about the Lennox cross country team.

The ability of the defending Pioneer League champs to run well earned the respect of all competitors and resulted in another winning season. Top runners who finished high at the League finals were Gonzalez, Alvarico, and Perales.

Once again the cross country artists scored in the El Camino Invitational Tournament, where they finished in second place. Individual medals for outstanding performances went to Ricardo Gonzalez, Willie Alvarico, Rich Twitchell, Leroy Collins, Dan Perales, Mauro Loera, and Mike Kocis.

Pleased with the showing of his enthusiastic striders, Coach Dan Karella remarked, "With only three seniors on the squad, next year's team should be a strong contender for another league championship."

They get better . . . and better

They are among the most visible people on campus. You see them at rallies, athletic events, parades, and sponsoring Tip Off dances. They're the Lancer Drill Team.

This organization of loyal boosters works to develop in areas of precision marching, modern dance, choreography, rhythm and coordination. In doing so, they learn much about cooperation and human relations.

At mid-term veteran sponsor Mimi Butler relinquished her responsibilities to Edel Alonso. Drill team is fortunate to have such capable and creative sponsors.

Cagers win way to CIF

The girls' varsity basketball team wrapped up the best season in Lennox history, garnering a 5-5 league record. Finishing in third place, the feminine cagers worked their way to CIF play-offs for the first time.

An exciting final season game against Centennial was the season's thriller. In a hard fought battle that went overtime, the locals edged out their opponents 57-51.

Outstanding players for the Lancers were Elana Weathersby, Lolita Holman, Jana Butts, and Oraida Alfonso. Weathersby copped top honors with her selection as an all-league player. Teammate Holman earned a spot on the second team.

The 40-27 slaughter of their West High opponents from Torrance was the high spot of competition for the JV hoop artists. High scorer for the team was Hettie Price, with D'Antoinette Zeigler and Tammy Puyol tied for second place honors.

Soccer team makes history; Garcia stars

With ex-Lennox High student Alfredo Pulido as coach, the varsity soccer team booted its way to a spectacular 7-3 record - and went to the CIF play-offs for the first time in Lancer history.

Team leader Jose Garcia scored another first when he was named All-League Player of the Year.

Impressive victories were scored against Inglewood, Morningside, and Culver City, while the only losses were given up to Aviation and Culver City. Especially gratifying were the 5-0 and 3-0 triumphs over arch rival Lawndale.

Combining enthusiasm, teamwork and hard play in every game was the key to this most successful and memorable season.

In addition to Garcia, four other Lancers gained All-League recognition. Uriel Chavez was named to the first team, with Fernando Mendoza, Roy Betancourt, and Luis Cervantes all gaining berths on the second team.

JV's almost take it all!

Take an inexperienced soccer squad, add practice, team work, and determination to win, and you have the Lancer JV soccer team.

Following a slow start, the junior booters worked themselves into an outstanding group of competitors, who provided colorful and exciting action for their followers.

Posting a record of 8 wins and 2 losses, the JV's finished in second place in the Pioneer League, only one point behind the strong Lawndale champions.

Goalie Jorge Carrera, always a fierce competitor, had three shut outs for the year. Joining him as consistently fine players were Raul Alonso, Jonathan Cortez, Martin Ordaz, Raul Duran, Moises Lopez, Carlos Gonzalez, and Efrain Pimienta.

1. Crossing his fingers during the game is double insurance for Efrain Pimienta that luck is on his side. 2. With concentrated energy and a long stretch, Martin Raya manages to stay ahead of his pursuers. 3. Jonathan Cortez makes an all out effort to work the ball past the opposition to score another win for the strong JV team.

Varsity nine has high hopes

The 1979 varsity baseball team can best be summarized as a young team with fine potential. In practice games, the Lancer nine gathered wins against Chaminade, Cathedral, St. Monica and LaSalle to enter league competition with a sparkling 4-0 record. This performance marked them as a team to be reckoned with.

The roster included two sophomores and seven juniors. Sophomore pitcher Jack Jasper, showing fine ability, seems destined for a good future at LHS. Other players displaying talent were Jeff Garrison, Nick Cepeda, Osberto Geno, Julio Veitia, and Gary Atherton.

Coach Dan Noval, pleased with the strong pre-league showing, stated, "Each player on the roster contributes to the team's success as a whole by incorporating hard work and self-discipline."

As the Troubadour went to press, the JV baseball squad had a 2-2 pre-season scoreboard and one league loss to Miraleste. Achieving greater consistency was their immediate goal, and Craig Gutman and Ismael Ibarra were especially strong players. Early predictions picked the JV's to do well in league play.

Varsity reaches peak too early

The varsity basketball team went into their season with high expectations. With five varsity returners, four of them starters, Lennox figured to be strong contenders in the Pioneer League.

Coach Roland Guiterrez's charges started off on the right track when they blew out Chaminade in their first pre-season home game, 83-55. Next up was the Pasadena Poly Tournament, where the Lancers made history by reaching the tournament finals, the first varsity team ever to achieve such a distinction.

Then came a long slide downward, and the Lancer's league record ended up 4-10. Despite their losses, the team played tough all the way and surprised the Lawndale Cardinals by defeating them twice.

The first meeting between the cross town rivals went into double overtime before Lennox prevailed 59-57. In the last game of the season, the Lancers took the Cardinals 69-63 to end the year on a positive note.

Top scorer for the season was senior guard Anthony Rachall. Chairman of the boards was Mike Haney, with consistent play contributed by Andrew Rankin and Chris Saiz.

Young players show strength

As the 1978-79 season opened for the Frosh-Soph basketball specialists, veterans Kevin Rachall and Willie Mitchell teamed with promising newcomers Pat Gray, Ken Bagsby, and an assortment of other young players for a spirited and exciting season.

When it was all over, the Lancers has posted a 9-5 Pioneer League record. Although the team was young and relatively inexperienced, they gave every league opponent all they could handle.

Freshman Ken Bagsby was leading rebounder, while top scoring honors went to Kevin Rachall and Pat Gray. Strong all around play was contributed by Willie Mitchell, Marcus Cooper, and Chris Harris.

Donkey parade

The names in the line up change, but the action and the leading players remain the same. The real stars of the annual donkey basketball game are the donkeys themselves.

There was a new twist in choosing riders this year. This somewhat dubious honor went to the students who sold the greatest number of tickets. There was also a different opponent - the Lawndale Cardinals who proceeded to trounce the Lancers.

Softball team aims for top

One way to prepare for league competition is to play a pre-season schedule against strong opposition. That is what the girls' softball team chose to do, meeting 3A and 4A opponents in a tough practice round.

The team scored a surprising one point win against Palos Verdes in practice, and claimed another victory over Chaffey in the West Tournament to roll up a 2-5 pre-season record.

"Our goal is to take the league championship and go to the CIF playoffs," commented Coach Sharon King, who believes practice, self-discipline, and determination are the keys to a good club.

Netters lack real depth

Although the varsity netmen had dropped two pre-season matches at the time of the final Troubadour deadline, Coach Don Young termed this squad the best overall Lancer group that he has coached at Lennox.

Toughest league competition was expected from El Segundo and Bishop Montgomery. Number one singles player was Rafael Garrido. Leroy Collins was also an experienced and dependable player, while Chris Roles provided strength in both doubles and singles.

Despite the fact that they lacked the depth of past years, Coach Marian Kovinick's JV netters offered spirited competition as they worked to build for the future. Carlos Culqui and Ben Salas were the two most consistent players, with Raul Alonso coming on as the most promising among the Freshmen.

Academics

School opened in September to the usual chatter about summer activities and plans for the coming year. Underlying much of this routine procedure, however, was a feeling of uncertainty. No one knew what the full impact of Proposition 13 would be. Contract issues were still unresolved, and the slow down on supervision continued.

Eventually LHS settled into an organized routine of academics, sports and social activities. A staff of concerned administrators, counselors and teachers continued their efforts to make each year a bit better than the previous one. Although personalities and interests vary widely, these leaders share a common bond - to offer a worthwhile educational experience for those who spend their time at Lennox High.

Principal Marie Boryan relaxes with co-workers Daniel Finnegan and Ronald Tyler, vice principals.

Faculty helps build morale

Over the years, the Lennox faculty traditionally has given all-out support to Lancer organizations and activities, extending their hours of service far beyond the classroom limits.

Because they have been such an important part of school spirit and student morale, their withholding of extra services during the lengthy contract negotiations was especially noticeable.

When contracts were signed, the familiar faculty faces reappeared on the activity scene. The tempo picked up, and clubs and classes operated a full schedule of events.

In addition to their duties in the classroom and as sponsors, the teachers' social calendar included Wednesday salad club sessions, an annual Christmas party, and the close-of-school awards luncheon.

Math emphasizes basic skills

Amidst an increasing public demand for a return to the basics, the math department was the first to establish minimum standards as a pre-requisite to graduation. Second to join the ranks was the English department, with social studies gearing up as next in line.

In the meantime, as teachers spent many hours devising such tests, controversy about the true educational value of teaching to tests continued, with advocates on both sides.

Economic cutbacks hit sports

1978-79 was the year that wrestling, track, and girls' soccer disappeared from the Lancer sports schedule. At the same time, other sports were reduced to two teams each. The low turnout for both wrestling and track had become apparent last year, and no program can be maintained without student support. Future participation will determine whether these sports are to be reinstated.

Loyal staff keeps LHS moving

Office staff, aides, cafeteria and custodial crews greeted the 1978-1979 school year with heavy work schedules and understaffed ranks.

The nurse was gone, a depleted office staff struggled under oceans of paper work, the number of classroom aides was reduced, retiring custodians were not replaced. Temporary help came and went. Through it all, the amount of work to be done diminished not a bit.

Often discouraged, the behind-the-scenes workers pitched in to help each other and keep LHS functioning in the best possible manner. There was always the hope that by June vacancies would be filled, job assignments mastered, and all would be ready for the 1979-1980 year!

LHS honors retirees

This year marked the retirement of staff members Tom Grant and Lera Southern, whose combined years of service to LHS represent a quarter of a century.

Grant served 17½ years as a maintenance worker. Stating that it had been a lot of fun working with the faculty and students, Grant plans to spend some of his new found time in travel.

A one acre home in Oklahoma was the destination of cafeteria worker Lera Southern, who came to Lennox in 1970. Commented Southern, "I have loved my work, and I will miss all of you."

Lancers thank these two fine people and wish them happiness.

Student Life

They fight apathy

Every third period, student council meets to conduct school business. Their responsibilities are threefold: building and maintaining student morale, finding ways to finance sports and activities programs, voicing the real concerns of the students to the administration.

This year the council provided some extra touches to their more familiar activities. Welcome additions were the colorful Halloween costume contest, a Beatlemania-type concert "Rain", and a year-end carnival.

First semester officers were Vicki Jones, president; Connie Fontenot, vice president; and Beverly Bavaro, secretary. Laura Simonek took over the gavel second semester, while Beverly Bavaro and Shirley Ohnstad assumed the vice presidential and secretarial duties. Faculty sponsors were Bill Calder and Dan Karella.

They get it all together

Every year is a challenge for the yearbook staff. The challenge: how do you produce a book everyone will like? The answer: you can't do the impossible. However, you adhere to good publications standards, spend hours coping with deadlines, make inevitable last minute changes, and then sit back and pray that everything comes together right.

Under co-editors Doris Diaz and Robin Eddy, the 1979 staff worked to bring a different look to the TROUBADOUR. Raising money to finance the book has been one of the biggest problems. The greatest asset to the staff was the enthusiastic company representative, Konnie Krislock, who shared the work and cheered us on.

Homecoming court takes on a new look

Through the years, Homecoming has been a major highlight of the Lancer social calendar. This year the event was even more special.

For the first time in LHS history, a King joined the traditional Grid Queen to reign over the week long festivities.

King Jeff DeSeriere and Queen Doris Diaz won the coveted titles amidst spirited competition and began their reign at the Grid Queen Dance, October 20.

From October 23 through 27, daily class competition activities took place during noon, and the week was climaxed by an exciting triumph over Lawndale and the return of the prized "Trophy."

Taking a cue from Disneyland, "Fantasy" was selected as the theme for the sparkling half time show, a fitting tribute to a gracious couple and their royal court. Long live Queen Doris and King Jeff!

Clubs continue active service

The Keywanettes are dedicated to service to school and community. Their projects included making Christmas stocking for disaster victims helped by the Red Cross and delivering valentines to patients at Centinela Hospital. Part of their vacation will be spent as volunteers for the special Olympics in June.

Officers were Jackie Palmer, president; Cynthia Campbell, vice president; Minerva Moreno, secretary; and Luz Rivera, treasurer. Mrs. Judi Reed is sponsor.

FBLA, sponsored by Mrs. Cathy Ghiglione, is a vocational organization which promotes awareness of the American business system in today's world. Candy sales and the traditional Easter basket sale yielded funds for the scholarship which is awarded to an active club member.

The successful year was under the capable leadership of Carmella Gray, president; Barbara Vigil, vice president; and Yolanda Gonzales, secretary-treasurer.

Disco craze hits campus

Established clubs were joined by a new and enthusiastic group of disco devotees to brighten the campus activity scene. Dedicated to the enjoyment and sharing of dance and music, the Disco Club was the largest organization on campus. Friday meetings were crowded and full of entertainment.

The talent displayed by the LHS dancers resulted in an invitation to perform at Hawthorne High. Assisting president Anabell Marin were Yvonne Holman, vice president; Maria Fundora, secretary; and Jose Fernandez, treasurer.

Sponsor Catherine Schindler expressed delight with the club's progress, stating; "I knew that with the talent and interest in disco dancing we have here at Lennox that the club would be successful. I expect even better things in the near future as we iron out rough spots and are even better organized."

Zany Lancers support charity

It's traditional, it's for a good cause, and it's fun. It's the annual Lancer Charities Week. Each year the student council chooses a worthy cause to support and sets aside a week devoted to raising money for that cause.

Harmony highlights activities

In the words of advisor Mrs. Fran Rinks, "Friendship and love for one another and concern for the needs of others continue to be the means of drawing members of the Campus Life Club together. We pray for each other, have fun together, and seek ways to serve others."

On March 29, the Lennox club hosted the annual "Maranatha Fellowship" banquet. Approximately 400 members of Bible clubs in high schools throughout the South Bay attended this outstanding function.

The Lennox choir has more than doubled in size since its reappearance on campus last year. Their enthusiasm and determination to keep vocal music in the curriculum is bringing results that are highly pleasing to director Don Ladin.

Scheduled appearances included Christmas and spring concerts, performances at Felton, the Lennox Women's Club, and Lancer assemblies.

Club wants rights for all

The objective of the Equal Rights Club of Lennox is to stimulate interest in careers related to law and equal rights. The group also seeks to create interest in building better citizenship within the student body.

The more serious side of club activity was balanced with social occasions. A trip to see "The Wiz" was one of the most enjoyable events, at which time the group also visited the famous Mann's Chinese Theater.

This year the club chose Monica Salanitro as their president. Other officers were Genevieve White, vice president; Noemi Rivera, secretary; and Jose Gonzalez, club representative. Advisor C.R. Roberts urges all members to reach their full potential. In his words, "To be second best is not to be."

Varsity goes for new look

The Chess Club and the Varsity Club have two things in common. Both are small in numbers; both are devoted to exercise, either of the physical or mental variety.

This year the Chess Club expanded its scope to take in the game of backgammon. With the help of advisor John Sahakian, the group met for regular practice sessions and planned to become involved in tournaments.

Something new also was added to the Varsity Club this year. For the first time, membership was open to girls. Although there was no mad rush to join, the fellows did enlist some feminine aid in selling candy to buy athletic trophies.

President Bret Gutman and Mark Jacoks, advisor, worked together to instill new life into the organization. Jacobs was determined to make this "the best club in Lennox history."

"Just to be Close to You"

. . . This was the theme of the annual Christmas dance sponsored by the Pep Squad. In the words of chairman Ruth Culqui, the theme means "to be close in Christmas spirit with the one you love."

A mirror ball, tent of crepe paper streamers, crystal vases with flowers, candlelight, and whimsical wall decorations transformed the cafeteria into an especially romantic setting for this major social function. It was all a fitting send off to the holiday season.

AFS promotes understanding

The goal of American Field Service is to promote understanding among people from all parts of the world. This year the Lennox chapter was elated to have two of their members, Christina Chronis and Barbara Neyra, selected as finalists for the AFS Americans Abroad program this summer.

Their biggest disappointment was the lack of an exchange student at Lennox this year because housing arrangements could not be found. Most AFS activities involve students from chapters in schools throughout the district, where members have an opportunity to meet exchange students from many countries.

Under the leadership of President Rita Camberos, the AFS calendar is packed with good fellowship, fund raising activities, and fun. A Halloween party, progressive dinner, beach party, and pancake breakfast provided active socializing. The group also sponsored AFS Days on the Lennox campus.

Other student officers were Elina Mosquera, vice president; Irma Burgos and Barbara Neyra, secretaries; Jeanine Broschart, treasurer. Much of the club's vitality lies in the steady, caring sponsorship of Mr. Lee Hayashi, with strong support available from Mrs. Ann Debban and Mrs. Lianna Parra.

Fresh spirit sparks group

Under the guidance of Gabriel Martinez, the Pan American Club experienced renewed vitality. The members held a gym night, participated in the Lennox Fair, and organized a highly successful Valentine's Dance.

This event featured a disco contest, complete with spectacular trophies. First place honors went to the brother and sister dance team of Rafael and Mercy Diaz. Runners up were Jim Yarbrough and Yvonne Holman.

According to President Martinez one of the best aspects of the Pan American Club is the outstanding participation of all members. He credits much of this increased enthusiasm to their new sponsor, Mr. Mark Jacobs.

Club works to earn trophies

LIA is a dedicated group of athletes devoted to raising funds to support awards for girls' athletics. When they aren't actively engaged in competitive sports, the members can be found selling concessions and pom poms at the basketball and football games, holding gym nights, and staging their most ambitious undertaking - the always popular Backwards Dance.

Student leaders for the successful 1978-79 year were Elana Weathersby, president; Lorena Abdo, vice president; Maria Millares, secretary; and Jennifer Roles, treasurer. Coaches Marian Kovinick and Sharon King were the faculty advisors who helped the group realize one of their most outstanding years.

Friday, February 23 was the date the "Shores of Paradise" beckoned to all social minded Lancers. This was the time to celebrate the annual Backwards Dance, always one of the most memorable occasions of the year.

This year was no exception. Colorful Hawaiian dress, beautiful decorations, a relaxed setting, and Ken Brown's music all blended to create a special mood for a special occasion. Along with sponsors Mrs. Marian Kovinick and Miss Sharon King, LIA members had once again scored a social hit.

Scholars test skating skills

The CSF is a statewide organization whose purpose is to foster academic excellence. Composed of the top scholars in Lennox High, the local chapter combined interesting recreational activities with their daily routine of manning the popular popcorn booth.

Money received from popcorn sales is used to build up funds for scholarships. On the social side, the group attended a circus at the Shrine Auditorium, tested their ice skating prowess, visited Disneyland, and shared a barbecue feast at Laura Simonek's.

Vicki Jones, a two term president, received first semester assistance from Judi King, vice president; and Laura Simonek, secretary-treasurer. Second semester, Simonek stepped into the vice presidency, and Sung Cha took care of the secretary-treasurer's duties.

Advisor Patsy Brierley helped the scholars on all aspects of college life, readying them for their entrance into their future educational programs.

Journalists meet all deadlines

The LANCE staff was well equipped to take on the job of putting out a first class newspaper.

With good writers and helpful advisor, we confronted all obstacles and were able to meet all deadlines.

The active group of students came up with good articles and many original ideas that developed into the informative and interesting high school newspaper, the LANCE.

Classes

Juniors set fast pace

"This class is undoubtedly the most active and united. Their enthusiasm, creativity, and hard work has led them to many spirit rally victories. We, as sponsors, are very proud of the Class of '80."

These words of faculty advisor Edel Alonso tell the Junior class story. For three years their enthusiasm has been building, and this year "Mighty '80" reached peak stride.

A fast pace was set by first semester officers Karen Simonek, president; Irene Cotinola, vice president; and Janina Gei, secretary-treasurer. Candy sales, gym nights, a car wash, and the Spring Sports Dance were events sponsored by the class.

Although leadership changed in the spring, there was no let up in activity. President Leroy Collins kept the class moving. Helping him were Chris Chronis, vice president; and Maria Kosmetatos, secretary-treasurer; and sponsors Alonso, Armstrong, and Hamilton.

Sophs try for # 1 spot

Having adopted the slogan "81 is #1", the Sophs have spent two years getting it all together, working to make the slogan ring true. Both semesters were devoted to a variety of activities to raise money to enjoy their senior year.

Rita Camberos was at the helm as president during the first semester. Working with her were elected officers Stephanie Ragin, vice president; and Dennisse Mercado, secretary. At midterm, Donna Bax replaced Rita as president. Marjorie Bautista became vice president, and Kathy Begg took over the secretarial duties.

Faculty sponsors were Ms. Anne Marie Sommerstad, Mr. Mort Miller, and Mr. Jerry Helpin. Ms. Sommerstad, who is leaving Lennox to work in industry, left this message for the class: "I have really enjoyed being with the Sophomores. I hope you all enjoy your years here at Lennox. Good luck to you all."

Frosh show great spirit

The Class of '82 pulled the surprise of the year when they placed first in the Charities Week rally competition, an unheard of triumph for Freshmen who traditionally have been low class on the totem pole.

When they made their debut on campus, the Frosh found themselves with no faculty advisors, an uncertain schedule of activities, and a general lack of knowledge on how to proceed in their new environment.

Despite these handicaps, the class adopted the optimistic slogan "82 Can Do", and under the leadership of President Becky McFall quickly became involved in campus activities. Other officers were Angela Birdsong, vice president; Patty King, secretary.

By the time the second semester rolled around, Freshmen were much wiser in the ways of Lennox High and how to hold their own against the upperclassmen. Becky McFall continued as president. Serving with her were Michelle Eddy, vice president; and Jessie Bax, secretary.

Newly acquired class advisors Mrs. Patsy Brierley, Mrs. Cathy Ghiglione, and Mr. Don Dunn all attested to the spirit and enthusiasm of the newcomers.

Expressing pride and satisfaction with their first year, Becky McFall stated: "We really got into rallies and class competition. Look out! The Class of '82 is on its way!"

When you join the Coast Guard you don't have to kiss everything goodbye.

Do I have to give up my car? My social life?

During your first nine weeks in basic training the answer to those questions will be yes.

But when it's over, things will change. And you'll begin to see the Coast Guard as it really is. You'll go on to advanced training either at a school or on the job.

And when your job is done and you're off duty, your time is your own. Then you can get into your personal interests. Which you just might enjoy more than you do now. Because every job in the Coast Guard comes with a paycheck (over $400 a month right after basic training). Most of that is yours to keep because of the benefits we provide.

And that's just the beginning. Because as you earn advancement, that paycheck gets bigger.

It all adds up to a pretty unique lifestyle. And that's one of the reasons the Petty Officer in the picture is smiling.

Dear LORi

I'm really glad I got to know you & the way it has Turned out so far (OUR RELATIONSHIP). YOU ARE VERY CUTE & SWEET GIRL. I DON'T THINK I WILL EVER (I mean it) a MEET A GIRL THAT WILL PUT UP WITH ME THE WAY YOU DO (although you do boss me around) That is a compliment. Although you think precious is my first Love, your wrong. YOU ARE If I LIKED precious that much I would spend more time with her or him - whatever. You are more precious cuter than precious in my opinion (I mean it) although you don't think so.

Your just a really neat person. I Love alot. (seriously). You are [illegible] isn't even a word to describe you.

I hope we have a great summer TOGETHER. I Really Like you even if you do disagree. You will Always be remembered because you are #3 on my List.
